

My photography depicts the ever-changing landscape of the world around me.

I look for opportunities to introduce a new context to my surroundings. And through this exploration, I aim to incite the subtle tension between nature and culture, innocence and cynicism and the beautiful and the grotesque.

Meredith Allen